LEAVES LAKEHURST MIDNIGHT TONIGHT ON WORLD FLIGHT

IN CENTURIES TO COME THIS

EPOCHAL VOYAGE

TO TAKE PLACE ALONGSIDE THE SORTIE OF CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

By LYLE G. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 7.—The gongs of ships' clocks striking midnight will summon the Graf Zeppelin to her greatest adventure tonight.

During the first few minutes of the new day, the largest airship in the world is scheduled to soar eastward from this naval air station on a trip around the world.

In centuries to come this journey may take its place alongside the explorations of the Phoenicians, the old sortie of Columbus and Magellan's groping progress which opened to mankind the sea lanes of the globe.

The Graf Zeppelin's mission is to pioneer a commercial air route from west to east. Upon the reputation for air safety which is expected to be earned on this journey, Dr. Hugo Eckner hopes to found a regular trans-Atlantic airship service which, in time would develop connecting lines until the entire world might be threaded with air lines.

Within two years, Eckner believes, his trans-Atlantic airship service will be realized. He is starting his round trip journey here in order to attract attention of financiers in the world's richest country.

Delays in refueling the Graf were overcome during the night hours with the prospect that her tanks would be full well before time for departure.

Storing of mail, baggage and freight was postponed until today. Thousands of pieces of mail matter have been received here, with postage at the rate of $3.55 per ounce. The Graf's greatest revenue comes from mail and freight.

Passengers require attention, entertainment and food, all of which is expensive. Even when they pay $9,000 for passage, as on this trip, Dr. Eckner would prefer other cargo.

The Graf is undertaking a 21,000-mile flight with stops at Friedrichshafen, Germany; Tokio and Los Angeles en route back to this hangar. Between 50 and 70 hours are allotted to the flight across the Atlantic to Germany.

Because adequate weather data is not available, no estimate is made of the time likely to be required for the flight from Germany to Tokio. It is this leg of the journey that most perturbs Eckner. Even the maps are inaccurate.

Eastward from Japan, Eckner will fly to the Aleutian Island chain, an interrupted prolongation of Alaska, and strike the American coast near Seattle, Wash. Los Angeles will be the first American stop.

If all goes well, Eckner expects to be back here during the first week of September.

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 7.—The Graf Zeppelin's motors awakened with a roar today in preliminary tests while naval aerologists assembled weather data which will determine whether the dirigible may safely leave at midnight on an eastward cruise around the world.

The Mayback motors slung under the ship's curved envelope roared merrily and appeared ready for their greatest test. Wireless interference garbled weather signals intended for this station, delaying formal announcement of the weather prospects.

Streaky clouds moved slowly over the hangar and to the east were banked up but light in color. There was not much wind.

Overnight fueling crews overcame difficulties and fully charged the Graf's ethane tanks, and there remained only a few tanks of hydrogen to be piped aboard today, naval officers said.

Passengers, freight, baggage and mail probably will be taken aboard after nightfall unless Dr. Eckner decides to move his sailing time forward.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Fresh west shifting winds off the Atlantic coast and fresh to strong southwest winds with partly overcast skies confront the Graf Zeppelin in the giant dirigible takes off from Lakehurst, N. J., at midnight, the U. S. weather bureau forecast today.

ILLICIT ROMANCE ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—While George McGraw piloted a North Shore electric interurban train between Chicago and Milwaukee, his wife and George Sullivan, a "brother," carried on an illicit romance in the McGraw home and took drugs together, Sullivan admitted today as he sat in the Lake county jail today, charged with her murder.

Sullivan, who said he had lived in the McGraw home in Highland Park several years under the guise of Mrs. McGraw's brother, denied he had anything to do with her slaying. Mrs. McGraw's body was found early Sunday, the head battered and punctured. The husband refused any explanation of the strange domestic arrangements whereby the boarder posed as his brother-in-law.

SNOOK TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

THE VETERINARIAN IS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF MISS
THEORA HIX

WIFE AND MOTHER HAD PREVIOUSLY TESTIFIED IN HIS BEHALF

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Court Room, Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—After his wife and mother had come to the witness stand to defend him today Dr. James Howard Snook was called as his own witness to defend himself against charges of having murdered Theora Hix.

Mrs. Snook, the wife, was a pathetic figure in white as she told how her husband had changed in the last three years and had become restless and silent.

The mother, a tall, slim, dignified woman of 73, told his boyhood story so aggressively the court had to stop her. She stamped him a loving and considerate son.

Then, the two women nearest to him having made their sacrifice, Dr. Snook took up the burden himself.

He stood tall and erect with military bearing as he swore to tell the truth. On the witness stand he was calm but a little flushed. His answers were spoken in a firm voice and were definite.

Dr. Snook described his education and his work as a member of the faculty of Ohio University. His manner smacked of the classroom.

During the war, the doctor said, the army required veterinary instructors to continue so he went on teaching at the university and in addition taught marksmanship to soldiers and took a course in aviation ground school.

Q.—When was the first time you met Theora Hix?

A.—About two years ago. She came to the veterinary department as a stenographer.

Q.—When did you have a conversation with Miss Hix after first meeting her?

A.—The first I recall was one day it was raining and I asked her to ride home.

After that, he testified, they had frequent conversations.

Soon thereafter they found sex "an easy matter to talk about."

Q.—When were you first intimate with her?

A.—About four weeks after I met her.

He told of a conversation on that occasion in a rooming house where they had gone.

"We talked of sex matters and she told me that she knew more than I did and I better get some books and read up. I got one book and told her about it, but she said she had already read it."

Q.—When did you next see her?

A.—I can't say. I saw her once or twice a week thereafter.

Q.—Where did you go?

A.—To wherever we could get a room or sometimes outside.

Q.—What did you talk about?

A.—About her affairs. I taught her to use a .22 Winchester rifle and a .22 pistol.

Q.—When did you next see her?

A.—I can't say. I saw her once or twice a week thereafter.

Victor L. Berger, for Years Only Socialist in Congress, Dies Today After Car Accident

WAS STRUCK BY STREET CAR 3 WEEKS AGO

LAST NIGHT AFTER COMPLICATIONS
SET IN, HE SUFFERED A RELAPSE

SKULL HAD BEEN FRACTURED,
OCCURRING AS HE WALKED
HOME FROM OFFICE

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Victor L. Berger, for years the only socialist in congress, died today, three weeks after he was injured in a street car accident.

Berger was 69 years old. Last night after complications set in the famous socialist suffered a relapse. His skull had been fractured in the street car accident, which occurred as he was walking home from his office in the Milwaukee building.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 7.—Victor L. Berger, world famous socialist leader and journalist, died in a coma today as the result of a fractured skull and internal injuries which he received three weeks ago when he was run down by a street car.

At the age of 69 years Berger fought valiantly against the injuries which physicians at first believed would cause his death within a few hours. Until last night he was believed to be winning his battle and physicians predicted that within a few days he would be out of danger. Then came a sudden relapse.

After a restless night he became unconscious this morning at 5 o'clock. His wife and two daughters hastened to his bedside and did not leave the hospital until he died at 1:15 P. M.

Medical men were amazed by the vitality of the former socialist congressman. They had seen younger men than Berger die immediately with less serious injuries.

The streets car which struck Berger as he was walking home from his editorial office at the Milwaukee Leader on July 16, threw him to the pavement, fracturing his skull at the base and breaking several ribs.

Battling always for "the cause," which to him was socialism, Berger became known throughout much of the world for his activities as a politician, an editor and forever a leader of the laboring class.

He followed his convictions to the shadow of prison gates yet never did he enter for himself anything but the admiration and respect of his political enemies. Berger, a native of Austria-Hungary, spoke with a rich foreign accent and he possessed a kindly disposition that went well with his soft tongue, but which belied the lion-hearted courage of his soul.

Berger, large of stature, bald of head and with that indescribable quality of leadership that brought to him the laboring class as devoted followers, met the crisis of his tempestuous career when he stepped before Judge Kenesaw M. Landis in Chicago and read to the court a carefully prepared document explaining his political philosophy.

The document was the socialist's response when he was asked if he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced. A few minutes later Berger was sentenced to 20 years in federal prison for conspiring to violate the espionage laws.

GOVERNOR HAS NO CHOICE IN LOCATING STATE OFFICE BUILDING

St. Paul, Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Governor Theodore Christianson stated today that he had no choice in the location of the new state office building, and denied that he had made any suggestion to leave the selection of the site to the 1931 legislature.

The delay in building the Historical society building, and even the capitol itself, because of similar controversies which were settled in the halls of the legislature, appeared today as an indication that the office building may be delayed for the 1931 session.

GIRL FIGHTS LOSING BATTLE WITH HICCUGHS

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Physicians attending Vera Stone, 18-year-old farm girl of Ripley, Tenn., who for more than seven weeks has fought a losing fight against hiccoughing said today they believed her case hopeless. The malady has reduced her weight by one-third, and virtually removed all desire for food. Buoyant spirits which featured the first seven weeks of her illness have given way to despair.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR BULL FIGHT AT NORFOLK, NEB.

Norfolk, Neb., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Prospects looked bright for staging a bull fight here this week. After considerable debate between the Chamber of Commerce and representatives of Gov. Arthur Weaver, a compromise has been suggested by which Mexican matadors and picadors can tackle the bull with dull instruments which will not harm the beast.

MILWAUKEE ROTARY WANTED FRANKNESS —AND RECEIVED IT

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—The Milwaukee Rotary club asked a 22-year-old college graduate to be frank when he addressed the members and he was.

"You can't ask youth to follow your footsteps," the college graduate, Fortney Strak, told the Rotarians, "in a social order garnished with privileges and riddled with hypocrisy. You can't make youth have any ideals when you have none of your own."

"I would be arrested for drinking on a public golf course but I can go to your private courses and get drunk without any danger," the youth shot at the startled members. He closed with this parting remark:

"Prohibition has made sneaks out of some of the biggest men in the United States."

The Rotarians accepted the criticism in silence.

OFFICIALS PROBE SOURCE OF GUNS IN PRISON BREAK

6 CONVICTS ESCAPED YESTERDAY, 2 CONSPIRATORS KILLED, 2 WOUNDED

4 PRISONERS CAPTURED AFTER 4-HOUR CHASE AND GUN BATTLE

Lansing, Kansas, Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Officials of Kansas state penitentiary today were investigating the source of weapons used by six convicts in a break late yesterday which resulted in the death of two of the conspirators and the wounding of a guard and another convict.

Four prisoners, captured after a four-hour chase and a gun battle near the business section of this village, will be brought before prison officials in an effort to clear the mystery.

William Webb, 39 years old, a barber by trade, and Robert Collins, 30, a farmer, are dead. They were shot in a spectacular pistol duel when they refused to surrender to R. H. Hudson, deputy warden, and Arthur Graham, assistant day captain.

The break occurred as the six were being brought from a mine within the shadow of the prison walls. As the men reached the top of the shaft they produced weapons and forced the four guards on duty and four trustees to accompany them.

Compelling the eight to act as shields from the gunfire of the guards stationed in towers.

Two long blasts from the penitentiary siren brought more than a hundred armed guards and citizens to the prison walls.

The convicts reacted to the highway, stopped a car and were the act of boarding it when they were seen.

Deputy Warden and Captain Graham, hearing the siren, warning, anticipated the fugitives, turned the principal road between Lawrence and Kansas City, Kansas, and were prepared to meet them there.

A bullet from Hudson's pistol killed Webb and Collins turned his own gun on himself when he saw his way to freedom blocked. John Hishop, a prison guard, and Knight were slightly wounded.

CROOKSTON GETS NEXT YEAR'S LEGION MEET

NO ACTION TAKEN BY LEGION
ON SITE OF NEW STATE
OFFICE BUILDING

STIFF FIGHT HAS DEVELOPED
OVER ELECTION OF STATE
COMMANDER

Winona, Minn., Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Crookston today was selected at the 10th annual convention of the Minnesota American Legion and Auxiliary as the representative of the 40 and 82, play organization of the Legion, and the Auxiliary.

Crookston was awarded the 1930 convention when Red Wing withdrew its bid for the meet. The Red Wing delegation, however, issued an invitation to the convention to hold its 1931 meeting at Red Wing.

Crookston was chosen after the delegates decided to take no action on a resolution drawn up in committee favoring the Wabasha street site for the new $1,500,000 new state office building in St. Paul.

Start of balloting for the major offices of the Legion revealed that a stiff fight was in prospect over the state commandship and it was believed the election would not be completed until early afternoon.

Minor reports occupied the morning session of the delegates with a resolution favoring the appointment by the United States veterans' bureau of guardians for incompetent veterans the only large calibre business considered.

The resolution was sent into committee for re-drafting when it was decided the bureau's power of appointing guardians should be limited. The resolution provided that such guardians would be paid through the veterans' bureau.

The guardianship resolution together with the election of officers was expected to occupy the majority of the closing session this afternoon.

The election battle was expected to center in the race for state commandship, the post now held by Stafford King. Three candidates, A. B. Kappelin, Duluth; F. Ben Andreen, New Ulm, and Earl B. Cliff, Ortonville, were definitely in the field for the office.

In the contest for honors among the musical organizations at the convention the Hibbing Auxiliary drum and bugle corps won the first prize of $200 in the women's division. Ironton's organization was awarded the second prize of $100.

The Faribault men's drum and bugle corps won first prize of $350 in its division and Madelia carried off $225 and second place. Red Wing placed third and was awarded the $100 prize.

H. A. Northrup of Mankato was judged the best drum major at the convention and Aaron Lemark of Faribault placed second. John Lundquist, Chisholm, and Al Unger, Fergus Falls, won first and second places respectively in the competition among base drummers.

CREDITOR POWERS HOLD SECRET
SESSION AT CONFERENCE
AT THE HAGUE

GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTER ACCEPTS PLAN, BUT WANTS THE RHINELAND EVACUATED

By FREDERICK KUH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
The Hague, Aug. 7.—Great Britain's campaign for a complete revision of the Young plan was assailed by other creditor powers at today's secret session of the international political and reparations conference, with the French and Italian delegates leading the assault.

Antonio Mosconi and Henri Cheron, finance ministers of Italy and France, ardently defended the Young plan as agreed to in Paris by the conference of reparations experts headed by the American, Owen D. Young, and asserted that the plan must be accepted as an indivisible whole or not at all. Cheron was chosen by the French delegation to reply to charges made yesterday by Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, that the Young plan was unfair to Great Britain.

The French finance minister set about today to prove that figures quoted by Snowden were erroneous and also that contrary to Snowden's opinion all the nations involved, including France and Italy, would lose by the Young plan.

Shortly afterward, Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, took the floor and reiterated that Germany would accept the Young plan as a basis for settlement of outstanding political and economic questions, but would insist upon immediate evacuation of the Rhineland and upon a preliminary understanding on the Saar Basin question.

MAURETANIA VAINLY SEEKS TO BREAK OCEAN RECORD

London, Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—The Cunard liner Mauretania is expected to arrive in New York tomorrow morning just two hours and a half shy of equalling the world record for an east-to-west Atlantic crossing made by the new North German Lloyd liner Bremen.

Capt. S. G. S. McNeill, master of the 22-year-old liner, which for more than a score of years held the mythical blue pennant of the Atlantic indicative of speed supremacy, sent a radio message today to the London Evening Standard which read:

"Our average of 27 knots an hour will probably result in a crossing time but two and a half hours longer than the Bremen's. Not so bad after 22 years!"

Cinderella and the Three proud cigarette brands

A Modern Fable

Once upon a time a Mighty Prince set forth to find a perfect cigarette. Being very wise, he netted down his search to the four National favorites . . . that quartette of popular sister brands known as the "20 for 15¢" family.

The three elder cigarette brands rushed forward to meet the Prince with all the proud pomp in the world . . . each vying with the other in urging her charms upon him.

"Smoke me!" said the eldest, "I am the class of the field."

"Smoke me!" said the second, "for I am beyond compare."

"Smoke me!" said the third, "all the world acknowledges me to be the best."

Then, from the background, the youngest brand . . . the Cinderella of the family . . . quietly spoke up. "If you please, Sire," she suggested, "why not smoke all four of us . . . and compare us fairly and impartially, letting your taste decide which one of us you like best?"

"Why, that's a common sense idea!" exclaimed His Highness. Whereupon he covered the names of all four brands with paper masks; lit them and smoked them reflectively, with all brand prejudice removed.

One cigarette seemed to capture his fancy, far and beyond the others. "I don't know which cigarette this is," he declared, "but, unquestionably, it is the cigarette for me."

Whereupon he removed the mask and found it to be . . . Well, Cinderella is the "storybook" name but in America today that winning brand is known as OLD GOLD.

MORAL: It is easy to make big claims, but you can't smoke claims. The only sound way to discover the cigarette you like best is to let your taste decide.

How a City Won an Industry

THE Nation's Business tells how a small investment in civic cooperation will, within fifteen years, begin to pay Baltimore business $48,000,000 annually.

That figure represents the annual payroll of the new $22,500,000 plant the Western Electric company will build there, opening the first unit by the end of this year. The plant will employ 30,000 persons who, with their families, will increase the city's population some 75,000.

To this figure must be added another 75,000 accessory population, of whom 35,000 will be gainfully employed catering to the families of the Western Electric group and to the needs of each other.

Thus a city of 830,000 adds 150,000 to its population and $48,000,000 to its potential buying power by practical use of a tool that many regard as useful only in the dreams of idealists and the oratory of patriots.

Forty other cities had a chance at that $48,000,000. Some of them offered desirable factory sites and an exciting environment of petty political squabbles, selfish private enterprise or municipal experiments. These did not appeal to the Western Electric as municipal selling arguments.

Baltimore had, in the beginning, little to offer but cooperation. There was no satisfactory site. Cooperation provided one. The site finally selected did not have suitable utility service, streets, or transportation facilities. Cooperation adjusted these difficulties.

It may be seen from this that cooperation is an effective tool when properly used. The story of Western Electric's factory shows how it works in hands that are willing to take it up—and, equally important, how futile it may be if allowed to rust.

Salvaging Waste

IN the example of the city of Washington, we find a city disposing its waste to some advantage.

That city salvages now more than $100,000 a year from waste paper, tin cans, bottles, broken glass and rags, collected from its streets.

A huge electric press compresses into bales millions of tin cans, which are shipped to Baltimore, melted and made into window sash weights. Washington sells this refuse for $6 a ton and makes $20,000 a year at it.

Rags are graded into ten classes, and are sold to paper mills. Broken glass, reclaimed by the carload, brings $6 a ton at the glass factory.

Other cities, seeing what Washington has done, are following suit. They are picking up profits out of what has been nothing but waste. Rag picking and trash collecting are now classed among the big businesses of America.

The State Office Building

EVERYBODY seems agreed that the state shall have an office building.

But not everybody favors the same site. St. Paul, as mentioned by the Minneapolis Journal, is up in arms over the so-called "back yard" site selected by the Building Commission. St. Paul demands that the building be erected on a narrow block southwest of the Capitol, across Wabasha street. The Commission, after considering both sites for weeks, decided by a vote of five to two in favor of a location north of the Capitol, across from University avenue.

It would probably be a mistake to force the University avenue site through, in the present state of St. Paul sentiment, continues the Journal. It is possible to make even a worse mistake, however, and that would be the erection of an inadequate or inharmonious building on the site St. Paul demands.

Delay is advised in a site selection, for delay would be preferable to a building mistake.

The Far Eastern Question

WAR in the Far East between China and Russia seems to have been curbed for a period, at least. Both sides, however, are maintaining troops on the border land of the area in dispute.

Diplomacy may avert further acts of hostility and eventually smoothe out the differences resulting from the operation of the railway which is the bone of contention.

Any great war, like the World War, has indirect results which may affect the world for a half century thereafter. The world is so closely related now that it would feel the effects for years to come, should China and Russia be embroiled in war.

A Morning Prayer

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON is the author of this morning prayer:

"The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man, help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces; let cheerfulness abound with industry.

"Give us to go blithely on our business all this way, bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep."

THE Oregon supreme court states that no person or class of persons has the exclusive right to the use of the streets. "Public thoroughfares are for the beggar and his crutches as well as the millionaire in his limousine." However we would think it more discretion on the part of the pedestrian to "give way," than to "stand up" for his rights and be hit.

BLESSED is the man who has found his work, says Carlyle. Let him ask no other blessedness. Know thy work, and do it, and work at it like Hercules. One monster there is in the world, the idle man.

SOME of our penitentiaries do not seem to have enough guards on duty. When a food strike can so inflame the men as to burn down buildings, either the cookery is at fault or the guards, for not being able to restrain the men.

GIVE me the man, who instead of always telling you what should be done, goes ahead and does it.

LON CHANEY and PHYLLIS
HAVER in "THUNDER"

Lon Chaney—railroad engineer. The famous star, behind the throttle of a plunging iron monster, plays one of his greatest roles in "Thunder," an epic of the railroads, opening at the Lyceum theatre tonight. As "Grumpy" Anderson, veteran of the line, Chaney figures in a vivid adventure on rails, in an original play, by Byron Morgan. Phyllis Haver plays the heroine, and James Murray, the juvenile lead, Chaney drove an engine on the Chicago Northwestern line more than six hundred miles during the filming of the new picture, and the Mississippi floods form a vivid and spectacular background for the railroader play.

Energy

Energy isn't everything, and does not of necessity guarantee success in life. It can be so diffused as to be wasteful, or so intense as to tire. The best work is that which is done quietly and thoroughly, without haste.

Adapted From Mohawk

The name "Adirondack" as applied to the mountain group in New York state is said to be from the Mohawk Indian word "Hattontinks," meaning "dark enters."

The Full-Size Plymouth Two-Door Sedan, $675

PLYMOUTH
AMERICA'S LOWEST-PRICED
FULL-SIZE CAR

You will find on Plymouth the largest tires of any car in the low-priced field. Real over-size balloons—4.75—more than ample for this full-size car.

That is why the improved Plymouth, with so much else to talk about, devotes an entire advertisement to over-size tires.

Many motorists lose sight of the fact that tires can make a big difference in riding ease—and forget how much tire size means to safety.

Larger tires mean riding on more air, which in turn means greater buoyance and comfort. Then, too, larger tires wear longer, add much to appearance and, most important of all, give the car greater traction which means sure-footed safety.

From tires to roof, from radiator to tank, Chrysler engineers have endowed the improved Plymouth with qualities and abilities never before available in a car of low price.

Saving miles of walking

Can you imagine what shopping would be if there were no advertisements?

Suppose your list of needs included a morning dress, a pair of tan pumps, a set of those little silver salt and pepper shakers, some bath towels and a new awning for the porch. You would want each article, of course, in a particular color or shape or style; each at a price within a certain range. How would you go about finding them, with no advertisements to rely on?

Probably you would start at the "likely" stores and keep on and on, tramping up and down aisles, questioning sales people and floorwalkers, till your nerves were frazzled and your feet were sore.

Instead, you can sit down with the paper at home and find out in a few minutes just what stores are featuring the things you need. You know they will be dependable goods, at fair prices. With the advertisements as a guide you can plan your route, get your shopping done early, and have time for a movie or a chat with your friends.

CARNEY, GOLF TEACHER, AT PINE BEACH

FORMER PROFESSIONAL OF MEXICO CITY AT HARRISON & START COURSE

TO ARRIVE TOMORROW AND BE AT COURSE BALANCE OF AUGUST

George Carney, one of the best known golf teachers in America, who has been professional at the Mexico City Country Club, in Old Mexico and later in the Chicago district, will arrive at the Harrison & Start Pine Beach golf course this Thursday to give instructions to golfers. Mr. Carney will be at the course during the balance of August.

Ernest L. Heitkamp, golf editor of The Chicago American, writes a warm commendation of Carney and his methods of teaching.

A. T. Packard, golf editor of the Chicago Evening Post, writes that Carney is teaching a golf stroke and grip which, among other advantages, absolutely prevents a slice. Four average players who were having trouble with their wooden shots, were asked to try the Carney system. In each case there was an immediate improvement both in accuracy and length.

Paul C. Loeber writes that wherever Carney has taught he has created a sensation. Players frequently have been able to drive 250 to 275 yards after a few lessons, and have reduced their score from 12 to 20 strokes. Carney learned his stuff from Mac Donald Smith, George Von Elm, one of America's classic players, was one of Carney's pupils.

Yesterday's Hero—Fred Heimach, of the New York Yankees, who prevented the American League race from becoming a runaway affair by shutting out the Washington Senators 8 to 0. The American League champions lost the opening game of a double-header to the Nats, 13 to 9. Heimach, in the nightcap, allowed only three hits.

Two home runs by Jimmy Fox enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to break even with the St. Louis Browns, thus maintaining their lead over the New York Yankees. The Browns won the first game 8 to 3, the Mackmen the second, 11 to 3.

The Cleveland Indians battled their way into a tie for third place in the American League race by beating the Detroit Tigers, 6 to 5.

Winning their second game of the season from the Chicago Cubs, the Brooklyn Robins checked trouble into the pathway of the National League leaders. The Dodgers won, 5 to 4, before 50,000 people at Coney Island.

Bill Walker of the New York Giants pitched the McGrawmen to victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 3.

ASSOCIATION TABS

The Kansas City Blues increased their American Association lead to 6½ games by defeating Columbus, 6 to 2, in Tuesday's tilt. The Blues clinched the game with three runs in the third inning. Max Thomas weakened in the sixth but Long Tom Sheehan stopped the Senators, despite the fact that the Columbus ballclub is reputed to be his "jinx park."

Effective pitching by Guy Williams gave Louisville a 4 to 3 victory over St. Paul, dropping the Apostles another full game behind Kansas City. Williams fanned ten batsmen.

Shortstop Frank Emmer drove the ball over the fence in the eleventh inning to give Minneapolis a 3 to 2 decision over Indianapolis. The circuit clout gave Rube Benton a pitching victory over Claud Jonnard.

Toledo won its second double-header in succession by taking two tilts from Milwaukee. The Hens put on a two-run rally in the ninth to take the first game, 5 to 4, and hit Cobb and Buvd hard to take the second, 9 to 6.

TOO MANY PITCHERS ARE 'DUSTING OFF' BATTERS' CHARGED

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(U.P.)—Too many American association pitchers are "dusting off the batters" by throwing at their heads to intimidate them, President T. J. Hickey announced today when he sent out a bulletin to all clubs ordering the practice stopped.

Pitchers will be warned the first time by umpires, Hickey said, but on the second offense they will be put out of the game and a heavy suspension will follow.

Gulf Stream Temperature

The temperature of the Gulf stream is several degrees higher than that of neighboring oceans. Water has a remarkably high heat capacity. It is four times that of air, five times that of earth. The water of the Gulf stream carries its accumulated heat, derived from the tropical sun, for a long time and to great distances, giving it out gradually to the air.

CRUMMY HOLDS PREVIOUS RECORD WITH 73; BOY FINISHES WITH FIVE BIRDIES

Behind the Sport Scenes

As Pictured by HARDIN BURNLEY

ARK to things military and you know that a fighting army requires a first-class training cadre to drill recruits and replace casualties. Wars waged between hempen ropes also require training staffs which are as little in the public eye as those which function "when the guns begin to shoot." Yet the boys in back of a boxer—his manager, trainer and seconds—operate as a general staff, service of supply, and ambulance corps combined when the gloves begin to fly!

The trainer's principal job is to bring his boxer to the ring in top fighting form—not weakened from over-training or lazy from too little. The average manager, of course, directs like a general the battle strategy of his meal ticket, with the chief second acting somewhat like an army's chief of staff. They watch for weaknesses in the ring tactics of the other battler and their own as well, pouring their directions into their man's ears between rounds and frequently signaling him when in action. Expert advisers know just what, and how much, to tell their man; the dubs in that line (and they are legion) simply confuse their scrapper with chattering jumbles of bad advice.

Crack corner men must be "first aid" specialists and some are marvelous indeed in patching up a bruised battler during the one-minute rest period. Jack Brady, of Tommy Loughran's staff, is one of these. Cool heads, keen eyes and expert fingers plug gaping cuts with the finesse of surgeons and the celerity of legerdemain. The bunglers in this hospital work simply increase the carnage.

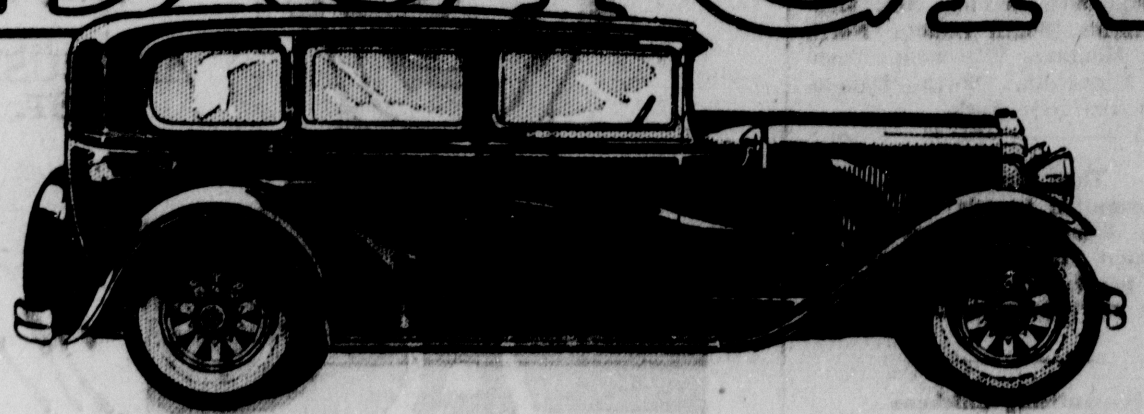

Cartoonist Hardin Burnley has pictured a few ring corner technicians who are famed among those on the "inside" of present day boxing.

That Ray Arcel—"Little Whitey" Bimstein duo, both comparative youngsters, are among the most capable of seconds. They've handled such battlers as Gene Tunney, Leo Lomski, Charley Rosenberg, Abe Goldstein, Benny Vallyger, Joe Glick, K. O. Phil Kaplan, and a score of others. That pair is far more than a mere water-and-sponge combination, as all good seconds have to be.

Among modern trainers, Dia Dollings, antique but active Welshman; Jimmy DeForest, another genuine "old master"; "Doc" Bagley, Barney Furey, "Doc" Bobb, and Lou Pink come to mind, especially for their "corner stuff." There are other able physico-logic mentors "behind the sport scenes" who deserve, and will get, graphic consideration later on.

VARIOUS SUMMER DISHES

The following dressing is excellent with all fruit salads, but try it with two cupfuls of chopped new cabbage, three tablespoonfuls of minced watercress, two-thirds of a cupful of diced chicken breast, two tablespoonfuls of cooked peas and eggs.

For dinner on a hot day have a cold meat platter. Arrange thinly sliced chicken left from the previous day, thinly sliced ham and a few slices of cheese. Garnish with eighths of hard-cooked eggs, small yellow tomatoes, peeled, hollowed out and filled with mayonnaise, placing each on a heart leaf of lettuce.

The jellies, jams, marmalades, conserves and preserves as well as pickles of various kinds will convert the most modest meal into a tempting repast. All housewives like to have a supply for their tables. Begin with currants, cherries and strawberries, and go on through the season with goose, black and raspberries, crab apples, peaches, pears, grapes and plums. Some fruits which we have with us all the year such as limes, lemons, oranges and grapefruit, add their zest to the other fruits as well as serving various marmalades.

Spiced Prunes.—Wash a pound of prunes and cover with three cupfuls of cold water. Let stand over night. In the morning simmer gently in the same water until tender. Remove the pits, add to the liquid the juice and rind of a lemon, one-half cupful of vinegar, a cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of cloves and allspice. Simmer for five minutes, drop in the prunes and cook five minutes. Remove the fruit to sterilized jars and boil down the syrup for five minutes. Pour over the fruit and seal while hot. This is an excellent standby as it can be made at any time.

Pop Shows Mabel How to Save Him Money by Looking in the Directory

Pop told my sister Mabel she could call her girl friend in Whoopie by long distance if she would make the cheapest call . . . so she should have made a station-to-station call, which means she'd talk to anyone at the telephone where she was calling . . . But she made a person-to-person call, which costs more and means you'll talk to only a certain person.

So when Pop found out about it, he was mad as hops and told her she'd better read the first few pages of the directory which explain all such things . . . and incidentally might save him some money.

"And another thing," Pop said, "you and your mother could learn lots of other important things about using long distance—and not only that, but also some things about using local service. All those things are explained here."

Fistic Encounter Follows Argument
With Soft Drink Parlor
Proprietor

M. O. Iverson and George Betzold were fined $15 each in municipal court this morning by Judge J. H. Warner for making a disturbance last evening on Laurel street between Seventh and Broadway, the disturbance constituting a fistic encounter with Carl Rau, soft drink parlor proprietor.

Iverson told the court that he was guilty of making a noise but that he did not start the fracas with Rau. "I couldn't fight if I wanted to," Iverson said, "I broke four ribs two weeks ago. I never saw the man before until the argument started. He knocked me down and started pounding me on the forehead."

Rau told the court that Betzold had been causing a disturbance in front of his place and that he ordered him away. At that point the argument started which lead to blows, Rau said.

Iverson said he lived three miles west of Brainerd and that effects from the war prevented him from working. He is married and has a family of five children. He said he receives $50 a month as a pension from the government.

Betzold and Iverson each admitted having a few drinks before the argument started although they claimed they were not intoxicated.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS BACK FROM OUTING

Sixty-Three Girls Registered in Camp
at Clearwater
Lake

The Camp Fire girls have returned from their week's outing at Clearwater Lake. Sixty-three girls were registered in camp, 28 the first week and 35 for the second week.

Each day was so planned that there was something interesting for the girls to do every minute, and each camp was responsible for a stunt one night.

Miss Ferne Lowe had charge of cooking the first week, and Miss Helen Fiergolia the second week. Good eats were enjoyed by all during both weeks.

Miss Mellina Vanasek taught nature and camp craft, and was also chief counselor. In camp craft the girls learned how to make proper kinds of fires, cooking devices, and one evening they entertained the camp by cooking the supper out of doors. In nature the girls learned about the birds, flowers and trees.

Miss Marie Adair taught hand craft and swimming. In hand craft each girl made three articles to take home, one in pottery, the others in basketry, reed work or leather. This proved to be a very popular class.

Good progress was made in swimming, many of the girls who were unable to swim when they came to camp, were able to go into deep water before their week was over.

The highest swimming honor given was the Fish honor, which was received by the following girls: Gladys Zander, Mary Jones, Alice Nolan, Dorothy June Opsahl, Betty Woodhead and Elizabeth Patterson.

The hardest honor which was earned in camp was the Wohela honor. In order to get this, the girls had to observe the gospel of the clean plate, observe rest hour, refrain from talking between taps and reveille, earn a certain number of camping honors and show good sportsmanship in camp as well as other things. The girls receiving this honor are: Lillie Casey, Margaret Casey, Vera Young, Helen Stout, Marion Falconer, Abbie Casey, Frances Ludwig, Gladys Haugene, Virginia Lindberg, Eleanor Severson, Irene Cass, Vanetta Backman, Alice Silen, Verona Backman, Maycells Workman, Margaret Gustafson, Evelyn Bahr, Betty Jane Paine, Anabel Paine, Gladys Zanders, Roma Twist, Dorothy Maghan, Mathilda Krause, Virginia Dennis, Mary Jones, Esther Hanson, Harriet Hall, Mardelle Stordstad and Geraldine Richards.

At the end of each camping period, the girls voted enthusiastically for camp to be held another year.

ROAD COMPLETE TO CAMP LAKE

St. Paul Building and Realty Company Develops New Lake
Shore Addition

The Brown Realty and Building Company of St. Paul have just completed the construction of a road of two miles through their property on the west shore of Camp Lake.

This addition which has been on the market less than a year, contains about 100 lots of which over two-thirds are already sold. Most of the buyers are St. Paul people, and at the present writing eight first class cottages have been built and others are in the course of construction.

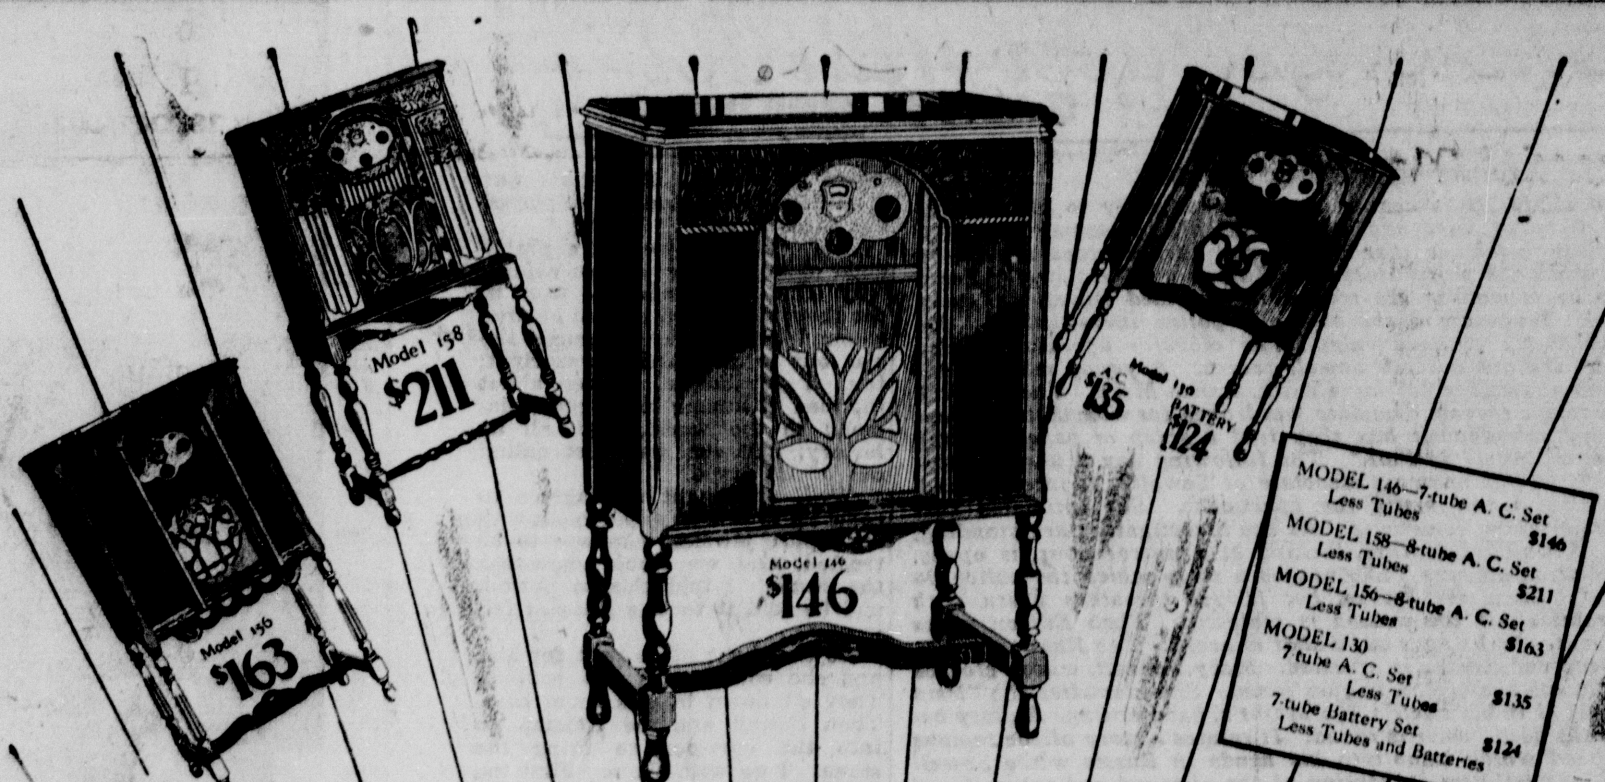

This beautiful lake, three miles long and one-half miles wide, is located four miles west of Wigwam Bay on Mille Lacs Lake on a good highway.

Camp Lake is a beauty spot, with high banks, clear cold spring water, beautiful white and Norway pines scattered all through this lake shore. There is good hunting and fishing in season.

The grand secretary of the Masonic temple, Washington, D. During the Civil war one or two lodges were organized within the army following the troops as is the English custom, but these passed out of existence and there are not at the present time any left.
